Kellington Art Gallery

Following a whole-school art afternoon, where the children were inspired by the works of the artist Monet, it was wonderful to welcome many of our families into school to see our art exhibition. Thank you to those parents who were able to visit. The children were thrilled to show their individual pieces.

Anti-bullying Week

This week, we are proud to shine a light on Anti-Bullying Week, focusing on the importance of kindness and the power in our words. The children thoroughly enjoyed a practical activity to demonstrate that once words come out of our mouths, they cannot be taken back. Each class stoically took on a challenge for the week which they performed in our Friday assembly. We are so proud of the efforts towards completing these and the encouragement the children gave each other. Additionally, we have raised £50 for Children in Need. Well done!

WELL DONE

Behaviour at Kellington

As part of anti-bullying week, we have been looking at our choices and how we would combat bullying. We have been using our 'power for good' and have talked about being upstanders, not bystanders. The children have been working hard to demonstrate our school values across the week - particularly respect and kindness.

This week's winning team is:
